Pittsburg, Pa., May 13.—Pittsburg was shut out to-day by the splendid pitching of Ewing. The latter allowed but three hits, and only two Pittsburg players reached third base. VICTORY FOR BOSTON

Chicago, Ill., May 13.—Frook held Chicago to three hits to-day, and Boston won 2 to 0. Miller, who was traded to Boston by Chicago for Pitcher Richie, played right field for the visitors. He made one hit, and was robbed of two others by sensational Although Clarke looked as easy as a Podunk deacon, his winning record was crimped to the core by three errors that came across at the most particular times that errors were not desired. Landgraff was the happy author of two of them and Shaw fell down like a load of coal on an easy grounder that wriggled out of his hands. Then a single, followed by a sweet two-bagger, cut out the rosy light and the ball fell.

Clarke was snatched out of the box so quickly that it is possible that he lost something by it, and Hale was called in from the warming-up grounds to try to put some Portsmouth players out. This he finally did.

There All the Time.
In sad contrast to the Colts, the Trunkers were nothing the job from going to court. If a bet got by them it was because of nothing very great depended on the result, and the way Hamilton kept the four hits scattered, never more than one to an inning, was a thing to make the scouts negotiate for railroad fare.

Hale was with him on the hit question, and really Hale pitched great. He was second like a second Eddie Fay, and when King cracked out a hit that was entirely too slow for the fast Trunkers to handle, he went to third and came home when King tried to steal second and was arrested. That one was flutter was all that the Colts could do in the run-making line. It was three men up and three men down, except in the last inning, until the end of the game.

The sickening fact is that the Colts couldn't hit Hamilton. Wallace didn't get a hit. Titman didn't get a hit, and Higbie, who had come out into the habit of bowing when he goes to bat, because of past performances, was not there with the big stick. Pop flies and easy grounders were the rule of the day, and what the Trunkers did to the easy ones that came their way.

Several and different ways was used all that the book of instructions holds. One wild pitch by Hamilton and a bungle that followed shortly after were the only matters that did not have less on them throughout the game.
